Description

A stalwart of our range. Cherry, cassis, mocha, sweet plum and spice. Mellow enough to glug on its own, but equally good with sausage casserole or steak.

Extremely good quality considering the price! We LOVE it

'Australia built its wine making reputation on Shiraz and with a bottle of Murphy's you can see why. It may not be a headline grabbing, budget busting version like The Grange but for a high quality, everyday drinking wine Murphy's hits the spot...with a bullseye! It is medium bodied with soft supple tannins, lovely lush bramble and black plum flavours and a very smooth finish. My best most recent bottle of Murphy's was on an overcrowded delayed train to London (with a malfunctioning air-conditioner too) - it took the rough edges off the trip, calmed the stress and arrived with style.' - John
